STEM Block Set

Our STEM block set has been designed with a 1-2-4 ratio of blocks to meet the needs of those following a Froebelian approach to block play.

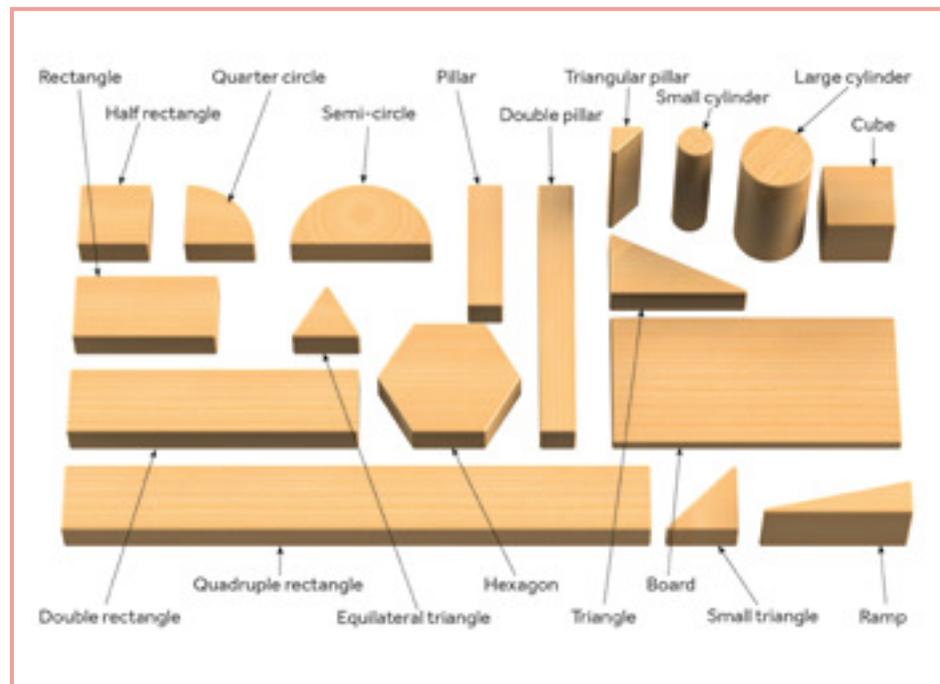

It enables children to explore the maths and science elements of block play and is great for understanding scale and ratio through play, developing mathematical language and introducing children to fractions.

Practitioners can easily teach the concept of part-part-whole with this configured set – which are the basics for understanding fractions.

The storage unit with its block organiser, allows children not only to access the blocks they need, but encourages discussion around shape and promotes independence when tidying away.
